

NextGen 11 - events programme launched

Written by David Brunnen
Tuesday, 15 March 2011 13:42

NextGen 11 - the UK's premier forum for Next Generation Access networks - launches its new programme this week.

With a new website and delegate registration for events open from 23rd March, the 2011 programme aims to double the 2010 attendance figures.

The programme starts with a 1-day Roadshow in Edinburgh (May 12th) closely followed by a further 1-day event in Tonbridge, Kent (May 20th). The dates and locations for two further roadshows (June and July) will be announced shortly.

These four roadshow events will build towards a major 2-day conference and exhibition in November.

For the NextGen 11 programme Groupe Intellex is providing editorial support and assisting Marit Hendriks and Andrew Macdonald - the directors of NG Events Ltd.

For more details visit www.nextgenevents.co.uk .

Notes:

The NextGen conference and exhibition series was initiated by the Community Broadband Network in 2007 and in 2008 the 1-day roadshows were added to provide a greater reach across the UK. The surge in attendance at these events in 2010 reflects the growth and priority now being given to investment in a new market with a core value £3bn per annum over the next five years and enabling far greater growth across other sectors of the UK economy.

NextGen 11 - events programme launched

Written by David Brunnen

Tuesday, 15 March 2011 13:42