

Starting with the NextGen event in Edinburgh the programme of Roadshows leading up to a 2-day conference in November will feature short video interviews with the stars of the show.

The first of these NextGen TV interviews features Henrik Halvorsen of NETAdmin Systems - the Swedish company whose management software enables local networks to provide customers with easy services selection and Service Providers with low-cost integration of management interfaces with their own operational/admin systems. NETAdmin's capabilities are at the heart of 'Open Access' designs not only in Sweden but in many other countries.
