It's not the smartest of blogsites but for readers who have followed our editorial outputs it provides, at last, an opportunity for you to respond.

Most of the brief blog-notes cross-refer to substantial editorial content on this main site but today's entry, a short intro to the RSA's latest report 'Business, Society and Public Services', is a stand-alone piece.

Over time, more of our work will appear first on the blog and the main site will be redeveloped to give easier navigation of the Groupe Intellex archives.

Thanks for listening. Now we are learning to listen.
